My search for a Church.....

Going to church was a Sunday ritual when I was growing up. I grew up in a large Catholic family and attended Mass and Sunday School every week. As I grew older, my desire to attend church became less important as I was trying to settle in at school and in my life. I only made it to church a few times a year, if I was lucky. Now years later, my desire to become closer to God, became a priority. After we moved to Colorado and our son was born, I began my search. It became very important for me to raise him belonging in a church and knowing God. After attending services at numerous churches, I gave up. They were either too crowded, too unfriendly, or not my style. A friend of mine, Carl, had told me about his church and I decided to give it a try. The first time I walked in, I was so surprised how friendly everyone was. I was immediately greeted at the door and left thinking what a nice church it was. Soon after, I went through some

ST. LUKE'S BEGINS APPRECIATIVE INQUIRY PROCESS

If you want to build a ship, then don't drum up men to gather wood, give orders, and divide the work. Rather, teach them to yearn for the far and endless sea.
-Antoine de Saint-Exupery

APPRECIATIVE INQUIRY is coming to St. Luke's as the vehicle for congregational futuring. Appreciative Inquiry is based on the idea of discovering what works and gives life to an organization and then building the organization on these life-giving properties. The model is based on the premise that organizations change in the direction in which they inquire. A church that attempts to appreciate what is best in its community will discover more and more that is good. It can then use these discoveries to build a new future where the best becomes more common.

David Cooperrider, the founder of AI (Appreciative Inquiry) describes it this way:

More than a method or technique, the appreciative mode of inquiry is a means of living with, being with, and directly participating in the life of a human system in a way that compels one to inquire into the deeper life-generating essentials and potentials of its existence.

Appreciative Inquiry is a generative process that uses guided conversation and strategic visioning to unleash the positive energy within the church to enable Christ's work to be done in the world.

The AI model at St. Luke's will use a process of interviews to discover people's best experiences and use these experiences as a basis for imaging a future and designing the processes and structures that will make the imagined future a reality. This imagined future, however, is not just a fantasy because it is grounded in the experiences of St. Luke's itself. We will discover God's unique gifts to this congregation and grow in the direction of our giftedness.

United Methodist minister and pastoral counselor, Rev. John Lee, will serve as our consultant to lead us in the Appreciative Inquiry process. A broad cross-section of persons will be invited to participate in interviews during August and September. The Appreciative Inquiry Conference will be Sunday, September 25.

As you prepare for the Appreciative Inquiry interview, think about St. Luke's and ask yourself the question: What is the highest, most spiritual, most transformative moment in my faith journey at St. Luke's?

Then, imagine...what if we lived more and more and more into these moments...?

Christian Believer is a 30-week Bible study utilizing readings from the writings of Christians, ancient and modern, on the great doctrines of the Christian faith. Christian Believer assumes that most Christians want to know what the church teaches and how it makes a difference in their own lives. Another way to say this is that Christian Believer addresses the connection between believing and living.

A message from Ann

The 30-Hour Famine is an activity sponsored by World Vision to give young people across the country an opportunity to experience hunger, learn about hunger around the world and raise awareness of hunger related issues. On August 6-7, twenty-five youth from St. Luke's participated in the 30-Hour Famine.

As a touching and meaningful end, the group "broke the fast" with communion at the 11:00 service on Sunday.

The group performed two community service projects during the day – cleaning up at the Sand Creek Waterway for Hands on Denver and sorting food pantry and clothing bank donations for Denver Urban Ministries (DenUM). One crew also dug the trench between the water source and the fountain in the back area of St. Luke's.

Other activities helped the Youth see the hard choices that must be made when money is tight. Every Youth, limited with $5 cash, bought an outfit at Goodwill that they wore for the rest of the day, and teams of Youth were given $20 cash to purchase all items provided by DenUM to feed a family of four for four days. The clothes and food were all donated to DenUM after the Famine.

The 30-Hour Famine provided the participating youth with an opportunity to learn more about themselves, each other and the reality of hunger. Nearly $1,000 was raised from sponsorships and collections made on Sunday.

To learn more about the day's events, check out the pictures available soon on the Youth page of the St. Luke's web-site.

To everyone who participated in any way – through your donations, prayers or participation – thanks for making a difference!

Time Really Flies...

Has it been a year already? With no time to celebrate my first anniversary, we're gearing up for our fall schedule. So as I worked on the schedule a little bit, I began to remember back to what it was like at the beginning...

The Kick-Off – Last year at this time, we had 50 youth and their parents come to our Fall Kick-Off, which was my 3rd Sunday here. I expect more this year! We have the ministry fair the morning of September 11, and our 2005 Fall Kick-Off is that evening beginning at 6:00. We want all youth and at least one of their parents to attend that night so we can give you a really solid idea of the ministry that we do with the youth of St. Luke's including a look at all the different programs and experiences we create specifically for your youth. I want to extend a special invitation to the incoming 7th graders and their families, I know I've met a few of you during our summer events, but I know there are more of you out there!

Bible Study – No mid-week Bible Study had been offered for 6 months when I began, and last year Karin Wesson and I split a Wednesday Night Bible Study called St. Luke's At the Movies (SLAM). SLAM will continue this year on Wednesday nights from 6:30 – 8:30 pm, coinciding with many other Wednesday Night Live programs. Each week, we view and discuss the religious significance of movies recently released by pop culture. A few of last year's titles included: Elf, Napoleon Dynamite, and Pirates of the Caribbean. This fall we will also be launching Youth Disciple for upper-classmen, which will take place during the 11:00 services for 8 weeks in the fall and spring. Classes start on September 18 lead by Elizabeth Bauer and myself and you can sign up today!

Youth Music – One of the goals laid down by the Youth Leadership Team last year was to create and improve youth music ministries at St. Luke's. With the help of Jim Ramsey and Kay Coryell, the Youth Jazz Band and Youth Choir were reborn and energized with dedicated staff and volunteers behind them. Their most memorable performance probably happened during Youth Sunday, where both groups performed several songs in the service. The Jazz Band and Choir are again up and running and there is room for more youth to join! Puppet ministry will start up with opportunities for youth, expanding the performance ministries available to youth even further, and we are also hoping to start a youth band (guitars, bass, drums, etc) this year! You can contact Kay Coryell for more information on these exciting ministry opportunities.

Youth Staff – Martha Boon had done a fantastic job of sustaining the program before I started, and because we are blessed with such active youth (Confirmation Class of 43 youth, 59 youth on summer mission trips) we were able to bring Ann Smith on as another staff member directly involved in creating ministry opportunities for youth. With her on board, we launched two new small groups for youth, Shortcuts To Manhood (STM) and Girls' Enrichment Ministries (GEMS) for the boys and girls of our group respectively. These groups met with such success that we will continue them into the school year and beyond.

Pumpkin Patch – The Patch has been a tradition at St. Luke's as far back as I hunt in youth ministry records, and last year we had some ups and downs, but had a very successful year. The money we raised in conjunction with other fundraisers like flocking allowed us to take 2 awesome summer mission trips to Wichita Falls, Texas and Caguas, Puerto Rico. We are again gearing up for this year's patch, and we would love to have you, your family, and your friends sign up to help man this year's patch. Youth, remember that when you work 15 hours, you get a $100 mission trip credit. Look forward to the return of our "orange lawn" with our first delivery on October 1 at 9 am and the Fall Festival on October 16!

There is room for you with all these incredible youth ministry opportunities! Adults and youth, I pray that you will take part in SLY Ministries in the coming school year. Thank to all the adult volunteers that made a difference in the lives of our youth in the past year. Adults particularly, we need your presence and help! The strength of our program springs from the incredible life-experiences that our adults share with our youth. If you'd like to serve along side other adults in youth ministry, had a piece of this article inspire you, or had an adult mentor when you were a teenager, please contact me or Ann to find out how you can become a part of this ministry of today!

classes to become a new member. It was then that panic began to set in. I felt like I was cheating on my faith by choosing a Methodist Church instead of a Catholic church. Lynda Fickling was so patient with me during this time and let me take my time in deciding what to do. So, I went the search for a Catholic church to join. The only problem was, I felt like I did not fit in to the Catholic Church. I belonged at St Luke's. It was after this long journey that I decided St Luke's is my home and where I am most comfortable. My faith has not changed, I just have a new family.

Thoughts from Fred

Anyone who knows me well, theologically, knows that I am very, very far from being a fundamentalist. However, a fundamentalist, even a hard-core one, and I, share a central conviction: the necessity for a rebirth. We describe it and view it differently. He thinks he is an absolute sinner, totally lost. He believes he got his "lostness" from Adam and Eve (whom I am sure never existed), but the story about them does provide an interesting metaphor. The fundamentalist believes his rebirth needs a specific intervention, with a lot of blood. Witness: Mel Gibson's "The Passion of Christ." I believe rebirth can come in more than just that one way.

Although I don't believe the Adam and Eve story is real history, it does suggest our human dilemma. Though we didn't "fall" (you can't fall from a condition that never existed), there was an incompleteness born into us when we came into this world. It is simply the condition of being human. We are born, not in sin, but with potential. We are human with a potential to experience a spiritual self, the Divine. Our potential for a complete life is realized as we learn to "die daily" (Paul: 1 Cor 15:31) to the human, to the ego, and then welcome and embrace the Spiritual. Or, as Paul wrote to the Philippians (2:5), "Let the same mind be in you that was in Christ Jesus." At that level the fundamentalist and I stand together. However, his route to that level is infinitely more complicated and intellectually compromising than mine. He strains to believe what rationally he knows isn't true.

I am getting to tithing. Born again people (real ones - either his way or my way), that is, people who die to self and live to Christ, people who have put on the mind of Christ, have little problem with tithing. Money has a way of capturing the essence of being human and less than spiritual, and therefore we need to "die" to that which is only our humanness, so we can be reborn to the Spiritual. This is a daily process which continues all life long, Till 79, at least, I know that personally. The more one lives in the Spiritual the less important the material (money) becomes. And tithing become automatic, a non-issue. The Christian "just does it."

I'll put it this way: your pledge to the church probably is more of an indication of your spiritual condition, than of your monetary condition. That might give a hint of where we need to grow. Let's get at it today, we really don't have that much time left.

Fred Venable, friend of St. Luke's

I'm very pleased to be named to this new position of Director of Finance at St Lukes. My educational experiences in accounting and finance plus many years of management and fiscal systems oversight will be most valuable in fulfilling the responsibilities of this new position in a professional manner that will reflect well for you and our church. I'm fortunate that these experiences have been with large companies as well as being an entrepreneur. My experience in creating and working with accounting systems, cash management and risk management will be useful.

I'm a life long member of the United Methodist Church and a charter member of St Lukes. During these many years of membership I've had the opportunity to serve in many capacities (Layleader, 3 building committees, etc) and participate in many other activities which gives me a great understanding of the support this new position needs to provide.

My job is to support our finance committee in identifying, perfecting and managing the finances for our church. This will include an immediate need of perfecting our current accounting procedures and creating new and useful financial reports. In the near future I want to provide opportunities for expanding our financial stewardship opportunities here at St Lukes to include other opportunities of financial support beyond the normal giving programs we are accustomed to. In so doing these things, church leadership, committees and departments will receive the information they need to make sound decisions regarding their responsibilities.

All of this means that in the long term we will be able to carry out our church mission and traditions to the fullest and best extent possible.

My goal is to use this article to provide you with interesting and informative information about what is going on with the financial program at St Lukes.

I'm your contact person when you have questions about your giving records or questions about our financial program in general. My position is a 30 hour commitment. The best time to call is from 8:00 to 11:30 Monday thru Friday or you may email me at Davec@StLukeshr.com.

In closing, I'm compelled to share with you this thought. When I was notified of my selection for this position, the first thing that came to mind was the dedication that Dorothy Day gave as our Financial Secretary as well as her dedication to the success and well being of St Lukes. For those who don't know, Dorothy was one of our charter members who for so many years spent untold hours keeping our giving records and making sure they were done "exactly" as they should be. During the many years I knew her, she lived a beautiful life full of dedication to her church. Personally, I miss seeing her around church very much. You should visit her memorial we have at the back of our church and say a little prayer of thanks. My hope and prayer is that I can come close to continuing her legacy.

Journey to Servanthood.

"I am a servant of God. Jesus is my teacher, my friend. I live on a journey to serve my father as his son served him."

These words would not have come easy for me a few months ago, but a new journey has lit my heart and I am very excited to serve at St. Luke's. My relationship with God is deeper and stronger due to our wonderful Pastors, teachers/facilitators and friends (including my Disciple I class). You know who you are and I love you for inspiring and challenging me. You let me speak freely, expressing my opinion whether or not you agreed with me. That is the grace of St. Luke's. Now I am ready to serve as Jesus served, worshiping and celebrating my father, my God, not just on Sunday but every day of my life.

Where do I begin? In Ephesians 4:11-13, we are told how each of us have a gift to serve God, to create a whole body from many parts. This gift serves a unique purpose, no one has the same gift. Today I serve St. Luke's as I equip people to serve themselves. Encouraging you to attend worship, pray, take one of our many classes, ask questions, challenge yourself to grow and build your relationship with God. Experience his love and share this love as you serve others. You may grow to know Christ as you serve with that unique gift given to you as a teacher, care giver, musician, organizer, leader, our choices and roles are many in the body of Christ. To serve is not a job. It is a ministry.

Here at St. Luke's we offer many ministries for you to serve. I encourage you to begin by nurturing your spiritual desires and re-examine your relationship with God. Getting to know Christ as a friend and teacher. Serving will be your reward.

"I am a servant of God" ...as you are also. Won't you join me on a new journey?

Ministry Opportunities – August 2005

Prayerfully consider your part in St. Luke's!

"The gifts he gave were that some would be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, to equip the saints for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ, until all of us come to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the son of God, to maturity, to the measure of the full stature of Christ."

Ephesians 4:11-13
